 - Any candidates who receive sufficient first preference votes to meet or exceed the required number of votes are elected
 - If after counting all of the first preference votes candidates remain to be elected,
 - The second preferences of the candidate with the least amount of first preference votes are re-allocated to the remaining unelected candidates.

- If the number of votes received by the elected candidate exceeds the number of votes required for election, the surplus votes are re-allocated to the second preferences of the winning candidate's voters, in proportion to that candidate's voters' second choice preferences
 - This method will continue until the required number of candidates reach the required number of votes.

Policy: Classes

Purpose

Members of ENTS and the general public have the opportunity to gain knowledge provided by instructors at ENTS. This document serves to standardize the way classes are operated at ENTS. ENTS wishes to be as flexible as is reasonable to enable and encourage instructors and organizers to run classes at ENTS. If there are concerns with any sections of this framework then please bring it to our attention.

General

- A class is generally considered a class when there are one or more instructors/presenters describing a topic to a collection of people for a duration of time, usually for a fee. The board will use discretion to ensure casual conversation and similar instances are not considered classes.
- Prospective instructors must provide the Board of Directors with a proposal for their class. This proposal must include the following, although more information is acceptable. A sample proposal can be found at the end of this document.
 - The purpose of the class (What will students gain/learn?)
 - The instructors and organizers of the class
 - A course outline for each of the sessions. This needs to outline major topics that will be covered in each session. The Board of Directors will request more information if the outline is insufficient. ("Build things" is not suitable - provide more detail such as "Build the base for the machine")
 - A cost breakdown detailing the cost of materials, cost of instruction, and any other applicable costs.
 - The member benefit and the non-member benefit. This is not limited to a monetary value (such as non-members paying more) and may include items such as, but not limited to, pre-built equipment or one-on-one instruction.
- The instructor(s) must be approved by the board as part of the proposal.

Policy: Code of Conduct

This code of conduct outlines our expectations for participants within the ENTS community, as well as steps for reporting unacceptable behaviour. We are committed to providing a welcoming and inspiring community for all, and expect our code of conduct to be honoured. Anyone who violates this code of conduct may be banned from the community. This Code of Conduct applies to all communications between past, present, and future ENTS members.

ENTS expects all members to:

- Be friendly and patient.
- Be welcoming: We strive to be a community that welcomes and supports people of all backgrounds and identities. This includes, but is not limited to members of any race, ethnicity, culture, national origin, colour, immigration status, social and economic class, educational level, sex, sexual orientation, gender identity and expression, age, size, family status, political belief, religion, and mental and physical ability.
- Be considerate: Your projects and work at ENTS may inspire other people, and you in turn may depend on the work of others. Any decision you take may affect other members of ENTS or the public, and you should take those consequences into account when making decisions. Remember that we're welcoming of all backgrounds, so you may not be communicating in someone else's primary language.
- Be respectful: Not all of us will agree all the time, but disagreement is no excuse for poor behaviour and poor manners. We might all experience some frustration now and then, but we cannot allow that frustration to turn into a personal attack. It's important to remember that a community where people feel uncomfortable or threatened is not a productive one.
- Be careful in the words that we choose: Be kind to others. Do not insult or put down other members. Harassment and other exclusionary behaviour aren't acceptable.
- Try to understand why we disagree: Disagreements, both social and technical, happen all the time. It is important that we resolve disagreements and differing views constructively. Remember that we're different. The strength of our community comes from its diversity, people from a wide range of backgrounds. Different people have different perspectives on issues. Being unable to understand why someone holds a viewpoint doesn't mean that they're wrong. Don't forget that it is human to err and blaming each other doesn't get us anywhere. Instead, focus on helping to resolve issues and learning from mistakes.

Reporting Issues

If you experience or witness unacceptable behaviour — or have any other concerns — please report it by contacting us via directors@ents.ca. All reports will be handled with discretion.

Policy: Storage Policies

Members often want to store things at ENTS, however the society is limited on space and would prefer to keep things neat and tidy where possible. To accomplish this, a set of policies is enacted on all members (past and present) to follow. Each area may define specific policies which override or append to the general storage policies.

These storage policies apply to member-owned materials, tools, projects, etc (known as “Items”). Projects involving multiple members should be distributed among the members involved - if this is not possible, the Board must give explicit approval for special consideration. Items owned by the Society (eg: donated pottery glazes, laser materials, K-Days demos, etc) are not covered by these policies, however it is expected that the Society respect these policies where possible.

1. General policies

1. Members are permitted maximum 2 Bins to store items in the space, known as Member’s Bins.
2. Member’s Bins must be 11 Litre, 53 Litre, or 68 Litre Rubbermaid RoughNeck totes. Preferably blue in colour. Other sizes, brands, and colours may be approved at the discretion of the Board.
3. Member’s Bins must be labeled with the member’s full name (first and last).
4. Items not covered by area-specific policies are to be stored in the Member’s Bins while the member is away from the space.
5. Member’s Bins must be placed in the dedicated member storage area provided by the Society.
6. 3 months after membership lapses, Member’s Bins and Items are eligible to become donations to the Society at the discretion of the Board.
 1. Prior to considering items as donations, the Board must give reasonable notice to the member so that they may collect their Items.
7. Large Items which do not fit into the Member’s Bins or other area-specific policies must have explicit written approval from the Board before storing them at the space.
8. Member’s Bins and Items must be stored safely, as per the Alberta OHS Act.
9. Contents of Member’s Bins must be safe to handle, and not contain any hazardous materials
10. All items stored outside of a Member’s Bins (as a result of area-specific policies or Board approval) must be labeled with the member’s first and last name.
